

Immediate Past President: Senior Colonel Chen Zheng-yu

Senior Colonel (SnrCol) CHEN Zheng-yu is an associate chief pharmacist and medical officer of the Health Department of Chinese People's Liberation Army (CPLA). He obtained his Bachelor of Pharmacy in 1993, his Master of Administrative Pharmacy in 1996, and his Doctor of Military Health Service in 2007, all from the Second Military Medical University (SMMU) of CPLA. In 2003 and 2004, he received UN peace-keeping training course at Switzerland and Canada respectively. In 2010, he has been trained at CPLA's Army, Navy, Air force and Second Artillery Command Colleges respectively.

He had served as a medical officer in the School of Pharmacy, SMMU, responsible for the coordination of pharmaceutical research, postgraduate training and foreign exchanges from 1996 to 1999, and started his work for the Pharmacy and Medical Instruments Administration Bureau of Health Department, CPLA, from 1999 to 2002. During the 2003 to 2004 period, he has worked as medical officer responsible for the medical foreign affairs and peacekeeping medical units of CPLA. From 2005, he back to the Pharmacy and Medical Instruments Administration Bureau till now.

He is currently working on the pharmaceutical policies and regulations, military medical reform, special drugs management, and pharmacists' practice within the CPLA. He is also the commissary of International Academic Exchange Committee of Chinese Pharmaceutical Association, the commissary of the Medical Science & Technology of Chinese People's Liberation Army, and Vice President of the Pharmacy Management Branch of the Chinese People's Liberation Army Pharmaceutical Commission.

In 2014, SnrCol Chen was awarded an FIP Fellowship.